

The weather forecast for the event was not looking too inviting with rain and strong winds predicted but as has so often been the case this year the forecast and reality are very different things. Conditions for the event were great and for those who opted to stay in bed and not come out to play you missed a very entertaining paddle on Saturday morning.

Just goes to show that you just have to ignore the forecasts, commit to the event, get out of bed and come down and enjoy what mother nature dishes up on the day.

Chris Runting and Eugene Stackpole fought out a very close finish with Chris getting there by 2 seconds.
